WHAT IS THE NEWS ?

- Duo for a Job beneficiaries visit the Damar-tex site at Boulevard de Fourmies

Last month, Duo for a Job came with its members to visit the DSB premises.

It is a charity that forms duos between senior citizens (mentors) and young people from diverse backgrounds who have difficulties in finding a job (mentees).

Céline Bécart, Dorothee Fleury, Fabienne Legrand, Pierre-Hugues Daval and Rodolphe Sallio presented their jobs to the mentors and mentees. Did this spark off any vocations? To be continued.

In any case, congratulations to Sophie Hasselsweiller from the Damart shop in Roncq for her commitment to training to become a mentor. We will not fail to ask her to talk about her experience in the near future. Other visits will be planned, including a visit to the warehouse.

A new conference on grandparenting at a distance

The European Grandparents School charity invited the Foundation to the Hôtel de Ville de Paris for a conference on the art of having a family at a distance.

Sociologists, demographers and professors came to talk to us about the role of grandparents and, above all, how to occupy this position from a distance.

Conferences on language, on the complicity between grandparents and grandchildren at a distance, testimonies of distant families; you can find a brief overview in the article opposite.

Perrine Bruggeman and Lucie Delecluse from Afibel went to the inauguration of the Pévèle residence in Cysoing in the North of France.

After several months of renovation, the establishment is ready to welcome new elderly people in a warm and friendly environment. In addition, 3PAGEN generously donated beautiful jewellery for the residents' boutique.
